Restaurant Owners Want Yyppee if...

- You would like most of your marketing needs satisfied in one place.
- You understand that the most effective marketing is all mobile.
- You see that the restaurant industry is very competitive, there are too many restaurants for customers to choose from, and as a result, customers are coming in less often to your restaurant.
- You offer deals/discounts with apps like Groupon & restaurant.com, etc.
- You send out mass emails using MailChimp, Robly, Constant Contact, etc.
- You print up and mail out flyers.
- You advertise events like Mothers Day, Easter Brunch, Superbowl parties, fight nights, wine events, Thanksgiving lunch/dinner, etc.
- You have specials of the day, week or month that change.
- You offer “flash deals” on specific items and at different times.

Restaurant Owners Want Yyppee if... (continued)

- You want to make it easier for your customers to find out what's happening at your restaurant.
- You don't want customers searching other sites looking for information about your restaurant only to be distracted by a competitor.
- You have delivery/pickup and use one or more delivery apps such as UberEats, Grubhub, Postmates, etc.
- You use Opentable, Resy, Seven Rooms, etc. to allow your customers to book reservations.
- You have or want to offer a universal rewards program with both points & loyalty options.
- You have happy hours that you would like to market to your customers.
- You give birthday and/or anniversary gifts.
- You want to send notifications directly to your customers mobile devices.
- You want customer feedback sent to you directly.
